A service of the Rhode Island Quality Institute

CurrentCare has been made possible through a joint effort by the Rhode Island Quality Institute and the Rhode Island Department of Health, with financial support from the federal government and other members of the health care community. The Rhode Island Quality Institute (RIQI) is Rhode Island's Regional Health Information Organization (RHIO). For more information about the Rhode Island Quality Institute, visit the RIQI website at www.RIQI.org.

With CurrentCare,
you can build a foundation of health for your

CurrentCare is Rhode Island's Health Information Exchange (HIE). It is a secure, encrypted electronic network, protected by law, that gives authorized medical professionals access to their patients' most up-to-date health information so their patients can get the best possible health care.

SAFER If you or a loved one needs immediate medical attention, your doctor needs your most up-to-date health information right away. CurrentCare helps health care professionals access that information quickly and easily so they can manage your treatment based on medications you are taking and existing medical conditions. When speed is critical to survival, doctors can use CurrentCare to help save lives.

MORE EFFICIENT When you're at your doctor's office, you want to know that he or she has your most up-to-date health information. CurrentCare eliminates the frustration and wasteful duplication of lost lab results and missing x-rays. With CurrentCare, all of your health care providers are in sync.

COMPLETE With so much going on, it's hard to coordinate all aspects of your health care. CurrentCare ensures that your providers have all the information they need in order to provide you with the most complete care possible. CurrentCare integrates your health care so your doctors can treat the whole person.

Over time, CurrentCare will provide your doctors with fast, secure access to many different types of important health information, such as your labs, medications, X-rays, and medical history.
