PBHCI Directors create sweeping change at every level -- clinical, financial, operational, and cultural. And change is never easy, especially for the mavericks and champions who have to influence AND implement at the same time. The Center for Integrated Health Solutions' 1-day intensive workshop will help you strengthen your ability to lead, inspire and build successful behavioral and primary health integration. Through didactic and experiential learning, you will enhance vital leadership skills, including: articulating a vision, planning and managing change, getting buy-in without authority, turning conflict into collaboration, ensuring financial integrity, and effectively managing teams, data, processes, and improvement. You will also explore your own leadership strengths and contribute your learning with a gathering of peers who share your experiences and your passion.
